SOUTH GEORGIA STATE COLLEGE

South Georgia State College is a respected public institution that serves students from across Georgia and beyond through a range of associate and bachelor's degree programs. Known for its personalized approach to education, the college emphasizes small class sizes, accessible faculty, and a supportive learning environment that helps students prepare for continued education and career success.

With campuses in Douglas and Waycross, the college plays an important role in the region's educational and economic landscape. Its residential campus, collegiate athletics, and year-round academic and community programming contribute to a vibrant atmosphere that supports local businesses while attracting students, faculty, and visitors from throughout South Georgia.

COASTAL PINES TECH COLLEGE

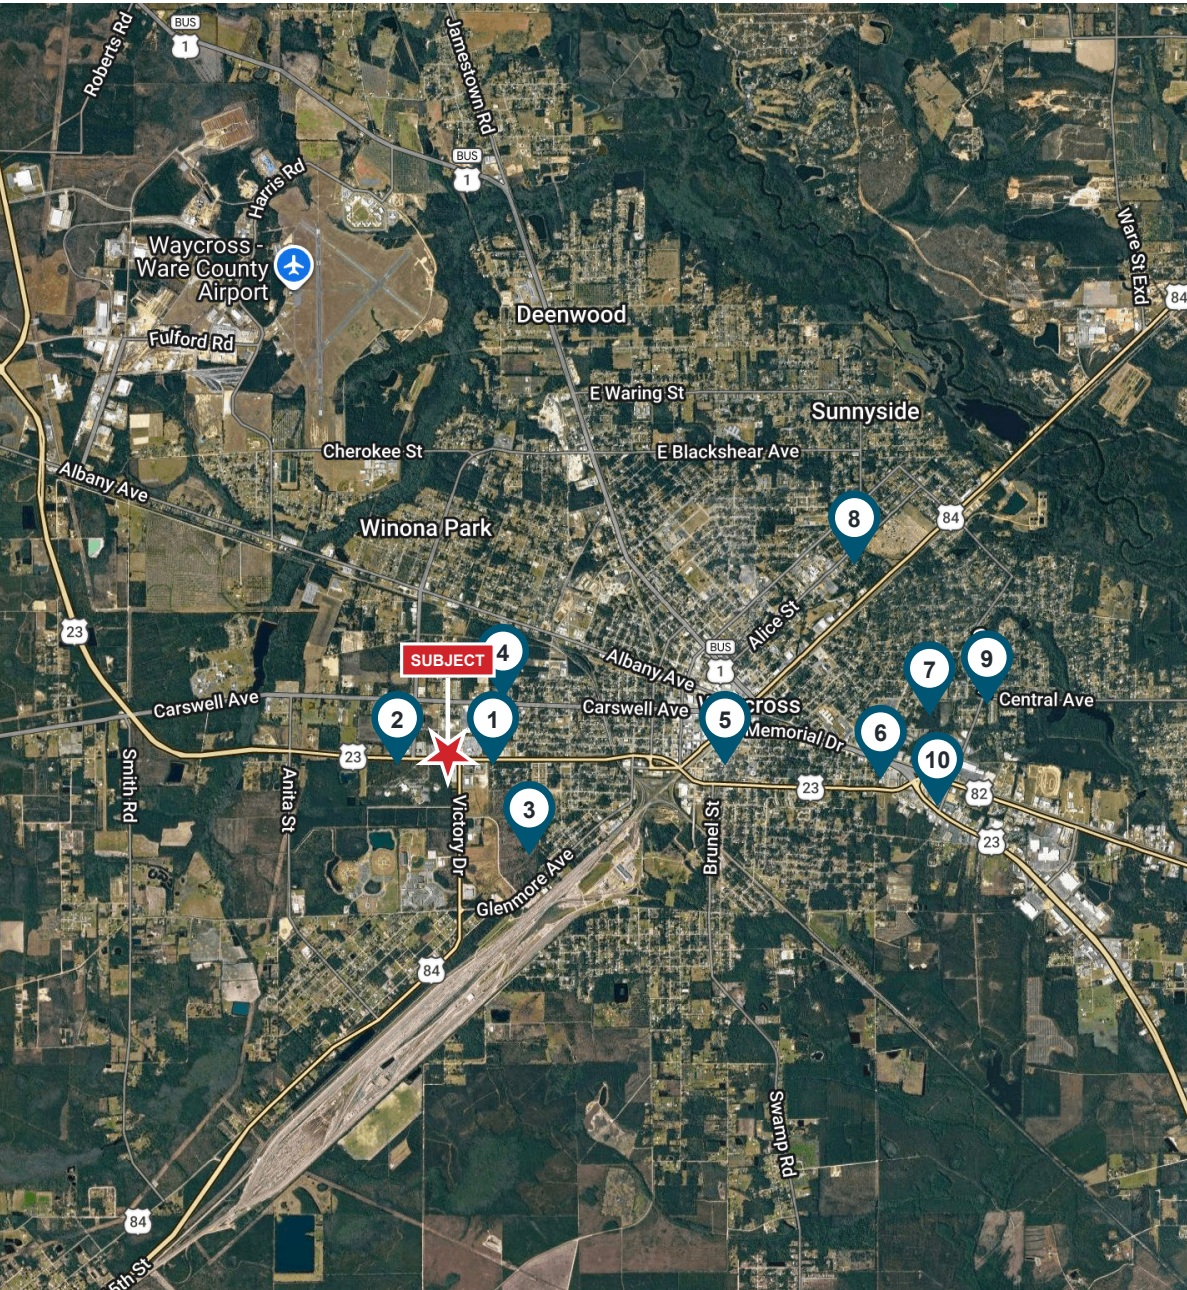

Coastal Pines Technical College's Waycross campus serves as a hub for technical and career-focused education in southeast Georgia. As one of the college's key locations, the Waycross campus offers students in the area convenient access to hands-on training and workforce-ready programs close to home. The campus traces its roots to Okefenokee Technical College, which merged with Altamaha Technical College to form Coastal Pines Technical College.

At the Waycross location, students can pursue a range of programs designed to build practical skills that lead to real career opportunities. Resources like dual credit programs also allow local high school students to earn college credit early, saving them both time and money. Whether launching a new career or advancing in a current one, students in Waycross can find an affordable, hands-on path forward at Coastal Pines Technical College.
