A Place Where Brands Are Making Their Mark

Vertical Real Estate is proud to present FAT Village, a standout opportunity to carve out space in Fort Lauderdale's most dynamic cultural district. Set against an emerging metropolitan backdrop, the Food, Art and Technology (FAT) Village caters to originality with a focus on experiential design and social entertainment.

This 5.6-acre mixed-use destination is a vibrant urban hub where design, community, and commerce converge. Defined by striking mass timber architecture, warm interiors, and expansive warehouse-style floorplates within a 900,000 SF district, it's ideal for flagship stores, pop-ups, and immersive brand experiences.

Surrounded by new residences and creative offices, 83,600 SF of commercial space is dedicated to upscale dining and entertainment along lively streets and pedestrian paseos. Wellness lounges, greenery, and natural wood finishes create an inviting atmosphere that encourages longer visits.

Steps from Fort Lauderdale's premier lifestyle and arts scene, with Brightline nearby, FAT Village offers high visibility, strong foot traffic, and future-ready infrastructure for innovative retail concepts.

FAT VILLAGE

NEIGHBORHOOD OVERVIEW

FAT Village is a vibrant four-block creative district located in Fort Lauderdale's Flagler Village neighborhood. Once a gritty industrial warehouse zone, it has evolved into a dynamic hub for the arts, technology, and entrepreneurship.

T3 FAT Village offers a unique opportunity within this flourishing enclave, blending an adaptive reuse design with modern efficiencies. The area has attracted significant investor interest, driven by strong demographics and ongoing development activity across multiple mixed-use projects in Flagler Village. Developers are increasingly drawn to urban-core submarkets like this one, which benefit from a dense population of high-income residents. Fort Lauderdale remains one of South Florida's most robust retail trade areas, fueled by a steady influx of tourists, seasonal visitors, and year-round residents.

CREATING UNIQUE, INSPIRING NICHE URBAN NEIGHBORHOODS

Urban Street Development (USD) is a visionary Fort Lauderdale-based development group founded in 2008 with a mission to redevelop and revitalize neighborhoods that possess potential for growth and renewed lifestyle. Founders Alan Hooper, a real estate developer/ contractor, and Tim Petrillo, a South Florida restaurateur, make a unique real estate development team not commonly found in the industry. The duo strives to create locally inspired, niche urban neighborhoods by combining best practices of (i) responsible development, (ii) purpose-built construction, and (iii) ground-level programming led by local food and beverage operations—which has been a proven recipe for success. The end results are interesting and inspiring places that people in the community love to call home.
