Discover a compelling investment opportunity at 2901-2921 Columbia Street — an 11-unit residential community perfectly positioned in the heart of Middletown, one of Metro San Diego's most sought-after and consistently resilient neighborhoods. This is your chance to acquire a well-located asset in a submarket that continues to attract strong renter demand and long-term appreciation potential.

Offered exclusively by JP Equity Real Estate, this RM-2-5 zoned corner lot offers significant upside potential for investors looking to increase current rents and even higher through unit upgrades or explore future development possibilities. The property is well-maintained, providing stable in-place income while an investor executes their value-add strategy. Key features include a desirable unit mix with many units enjoying panoramic views of bay and downtown skyline, most units with balconies and/or patios, mature landscaping, 12 parking spaces, triple-pane windows, a pitch composition roof, a carport with attached storage, and common laundry facilities — all set on an elevated lot that enhances privacy and street presence.

The current owners have been generous stewards of their tenants, holding rents conservatively below market across all unit types — averaging 40% below prevailing market rates. One-bedroom units running $1,335-$1,550 against a market of $2,200-$2,600, and two-bedroom units at $2,400-$2,500 against a market of $2,800-$3,400. The crown jewel is a spacious 1,418 SF three-bedroom/two-bath unit currently at $2,550 — well below its market potential of $3,800-$4,500 — beautifully positioned to serve as a stunning owner-occupant residence or command premium market rents from day one.

Middletown, San Diego

Middletown, San Diego

Nestled on a hillside overlooking San Diego Bay, Middletown is one of San Diego's oldest and most storied neighborhoods — founded in 1850 and originally a landing point for Italian and Portuguese fishermen. Today, it's a charming urban enclave that blends deep history with everyday convenience.

Architecture & Character

The neighborhood features steep streets and spacious lots adorned with coastal foliage, showcasing a rich variety of architectural styles — from 1920s bungalows and Craftsman homes to grand Spanish Revivals, along with newer luxury condos boasting bay views. It offers a mix of single-family and multifamily residences alongside commercial retail and dining along India Street.

Residential development has always conformed to the natural slopes and contours of the land, allowing the neighborhood to grow while preserving much of its original character and greenery.

Food, Shopping & Things to Do

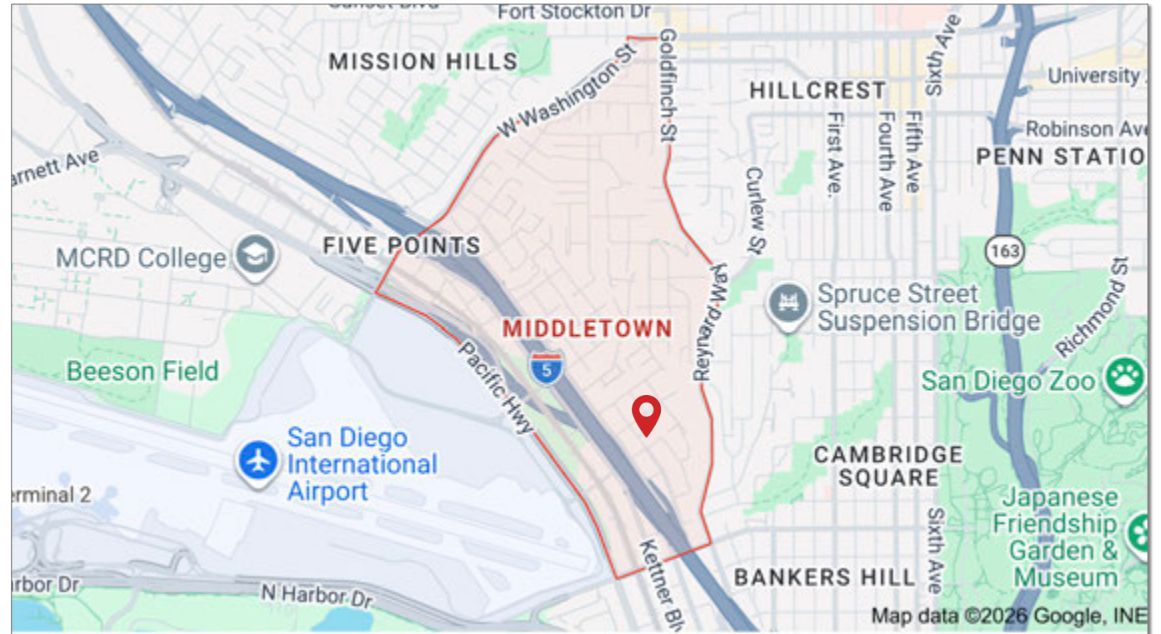

Residents enjoy a range of dining options along India Street, including Gelato Vera Caffè, Blue Water Seafood Grill & Market, and Shakespeare Pub, while Goldfinch Street features popular spots like Farmer's Bottega. The neighborhood is also home to Harper's Topiary Garden — a one-of-a-kind display of over 50 hand-trimmed hedges that draws visitors from across San Diego.

Parks & Recreation

Pioneer Park and Mission Hills Park offer playgrounds, walking trails, and shaded green space just north of the neighborhood. Balboa Park — home to the San Diego Zoo — is 4 miles east, and Ocean Beach is 6 miles west.

Getting Around

Perfectly positioned between Little Italy to the south, Mission Hills and Hillcrest to the north, Bankers Hill to the east, and San Diego International Airport to the west, Middletown sits at the crossroads of some of the city's most vibrant communities. It's considered fairly walkable and bikeable, with solid transit options. Interstate 5 runs along its western edge, putting downtown San Diego just 2 miles away and the airport just minutes from most homes.
