Overlooking the second largest square in Central London, Russell Square is steeped in the history and period charm of this incredible city. Bloomsbury was historically the home of London's elegant and eloquent, the literati, and still inspires many a wordsmith.

It's hard not to be impressed – let some of this prestige rub off on your brand in our beautiful Grade II listed but high-tech building. This fully serviced office space is within walking distance of Euston and Kings Cross, and is set over five refurbished floors complemented by a charming communal garden.
