INVESTMENT HIGHLIGHTS

- i. | 61 Acres of Contiguous, CB-Zoned Frontage on NC 55 — one of the last large-scale development sites of this size along the corridor, with direct access to a public right-of-way and 31,000 vehicles per day.
- ii. | Adjacent to Established Retail Anchors — Wegmans and Lowe's Home Improvement border the site; Shoppes at Holly Springs, Main Street Square, and South Park Village Center are within one mile.
- iii. | 1.7 Miles to Downtown Holly Springs, 2.3 Miles to UNC Rex — infill location within a town that has largely built out its remaining commercial land.
- iv. | $4.2B+ of Committed Life Sciences Investment Nearby — anchored by FUJIFILM Diosynth Biotechnologies and Amgen, Holly Springs continues to emerge as a premier biomanufacturing destination, supporting 1,400+ projected high-wage jobs and billions in life sciences investment.
- v. | Affluent, Highly Educated Trade Area — $135,578 median household income in Holly Springs; 67.3% hold a bachelor's degree or higher; 4% to 5% retail vacancy.
- vi. | Flexible Development Program — conceptual plan demonstrates support for a mixed-use village of retail, grocery, hotel, office, and for-sale and for-rent residential, with seven outparcels along the highway frontage.

ZONING NOTES WITH CLARIFICATION FOR POTENTIAL BUYERS

Holly Springs takes an active role in shaping development within its limits. The town exercises meaningful discretion throughout the approval process, and outcomes depend heavily on how well a proposal aligns with the town's planning objectives for the site in question. Ownership is seeking a purchaser who understands that dynamic and has the local track record to work within it.

What to Include:

- Purchase price, deposit structure, and diligence period
- Your firm's Holly Springs experience — projects entitled, current relationships with town staff, familiarity with the approval process
- A specific description of the intended development program, including density, uses, and phasing
- An entitlement schedule with dated milestones for rezoning, site plan approval, and construction documents
- Closing after an early zoning milestone with the Town of Holly Springs
- Proof of funds or equity commitment, and your closing timeline

Terms That Strengthen an Offer:

- Earnest money that goes hard on a defined schedule tied to entitlement milestones, applicable to the purchase price
- A disciplined but realistic approval timeline you're prepared to be held to

KEY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT GROWTH MAP

Holly Springs has experienced significant growth over the past decade and remains one of the Triangle's fastest-growing communities. The opening of UNC Rex Holly Springs Hospital in 2021 expanded access to advanced healthcare services, helping support the area's growing population.

Major life sciences investments continue to fuel the town's growth, including FUJIFILM Diosynth Biotechnologies $3.2+ billion campus and approximately 1,400 projected jobs, along with Amgen's $550 million biomanufacturing facility and 350+ jobs. These investments are driving continued demand for residential, retail, and commercial development throughout the market.

TRIANGLE REGION

Overview

EXPONENTIAL POPULATION GROWTH

The Raleigh–Durham–Research Triangle region continues to be one of the fastest-growing areas in the country. The combined statistical area now exceeds 2.4 million residents and has added more than 240,000 people since 2020. Wake County remains the region's largest and fastest-growing county, with a population of approximately 1.25 million and growth of roughly 66 new residents per day, driven largely by domestic and international migration.

DIVERSIFIED EMPLOYMENT BASE

The Triangle's continued success is supported by a diverse and highly educated workforce. The region has seen significant growth in residents with college degrees in recent years, reinforcing its reputation as a talent hub. In the Raleigh metro area, more than 50% of adults hold a postsecondary degree, well above state and national averages, helping attract employers across technology, life sciences, healthcare, and advanced manufacturing sectors.

INNOVATION

Anchored by Duke University, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and North Carolina State University, the Triangle remains a leading center for research, innovation, and entrepreneurship. Research Triangle Park (RTP)—one of the largest research parks in the United States—includes: 385+ companies and startups, 55,000+ employees, and a strong focus on life sciences, tech, and advanced research industries.

QUALITY OF LIFE

The Triangle offers a high quality of life supported by a relatively moderate cost of living compared to other major tech markets, strong healthcare systems, and abundant recreational opportunities. Centrally located between the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Atlantic Coast, the region provides easy access to outdoor recreation, while a mild climate allows for year-round activity.

TOP BUSINESS CLIMATE

Consistently ranked among the nation's best places to do business, the Triangle benefits from a strong economic base and continued corporate investment. Major employers span pharmaceuticals, software, cleantech, and biotechnology, and thousands of new jobs and billions in investment continue to be announced annually in Wake County alone. Global companies continue to invest in the region. Notable mentions include Apple, which committed $1 billion to a future RTP campus; FUJIFILM Diosynth Biotechnologies, which announced a $3.2 billion expansion; and Novo Nordisk, which announced a $4.1 billion investment.

CONSISTENT EMPLOYMENT GROWTH

The Triangle continues to experience steady employment growth and low unemployment. As of early 2026, the Raleigh area unemployment rate is approximately 3.0%, remaining below the national average. The region's strong labor market, population growth, and highly skilled workforce continue to support long-term economic expansion and rising incomes.
