The Neighbourhood

Both local and international, like Avenue Montaigne in Paris and New York’s Madison Avenue, Sloane Street is one of the world’s most affluent local communities while attracting ultra-high net worth visitors through its exclusive, intimate experience.

Sloane Street is an established office location, with occupiers drawn to the impressive range of amenity available on their doorstep. Nearby office tenants include Oakley Capital, Marshall Wace, InvestIndustrial and Ineos Industries.

The neighbourhood's rich cultural scene includes attractions such as leading contemporary gallery Saatchi, innovative theatre at Royal Court, the world famous Chelsea Flower Show each year, and Cadogan Hall, home of the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra.

Michelin-starred restaurants and leading hotels create a significant flow of international visitors. The recently refurbished Belmond Cadogan Hotel and new Beaverbrook Townhouse on Sloane Street have been followed by a brand new 30-room boutique hotel just off Sloane Square, operated by Jean-Louis Costes, which opened in late 2023.

Sloane Street has recently been transformed with a £46m public realm scheme; widening pavements, introducing magnificent planting, elegant street furniture and enhanced lighting - all using the finest materials - to create a stunning green boulevard from Knightsbridge to Sloane Square.

Floor-to-ceiling windows on the first floor flood the space with natural light, opening onto a Juliet balcony that frames sweeping views of the immaculate gardens and the luxury fashion houses of Sloane Street.

The second, third and fourth floors each present a generous, open-plan layout free of pillars and grounded by beautifully crafted herringbone timber flooring. Abundant natural light pours through expansive windows, enhancing the fresh, uplifting ambience.

Each floor includes a fitted kitchen and elegant w/cs.

The third floor showcases a distinctive Crittall-glazed private office, ideal as an executive workspace or an intimate meeting room. Complementing this are two thoughtfully designed phone booths, providing quiet, dedicated areas for calls and focused work.
