Location

Bletchley is a well-established town located approximately 4 miles to the south of central Milton Keynes, 5 miles west of Woburn Sands and 8 miles north-west of Leighton Buzzard. The town's mainline railway station offers direct services to London Euston in under 40 minutes, while excellent road links via the A5 and nearby M1 ensure easy access to surrounding towns and cities.

More specifically, Queensway is one of the principal thoroughfares in Bletchley connecting Brunel Shopping Centre to the west. The immediate vicinity is predominantly categorised by a mixture of commercial occupiers from traditional retail and restaurant operators to medical and healthcare users, offering a diverse range of amenities.

Significant investment is currently being made into the area through the Bletchley and Fenny Stratford regeneration project, including major improvements to the town centre, Queensway high street, public spaces, and transport infrastructure—further enhancing the town's appeal for residents, businesses, and investors.
